BONAPARTIST CAUCUS.

PARIS, July 22.—At the Bonapartist caucus, on Saturday, only four hundred and twenty-five of the 115 were present, and, though with only two dissentients, a resolution was finally adopted declaring Prince Napoleon the head of the Bonapartist party, twenty-two of those present had previously supported an amendment, which was withdrawn, declining to pronounce on the question of the jurisdiction of the meeting, and affirming their sentiments of fidelity to the Empire and the principles of order which has always inspired its policy. As this amendment implied censure on the attendance of Prince Jerome, the feelings with which he is regarded by a large section of the Bonapartist party are pretty apparent. Many of the sixteen kept away to avoid committing themselves to his recognition.

PAUL DE CAMBACERES, in his journal, reproaches Prince Jerome with entertaining a fear of exile, which does him from being a monarchist.

THE BONAPARTIST ORGAN.

PARIS, July 22.—Ex-Empress Eugenie has informed Rouher that she will not consent to the further subvention of the press, and he has ceased to direct the political paper, the Ordre. The shareholders of that journal will meet soon to consider what course to pursue.

HEAVY RAIN THROUGHOUT GREAT BRITAIN—GREAT DAMAGE TO THE CROPS.

By Cable to New York Herald.

LONDON, July 22.—The weather for three days has been exceedingly boisterous all over these islands. A heavy rain continued to fall late on Saturday, and was followed by a short interval of clear weather. On Sunday morning a heavy rain began to blow, and torrents of rain fell throughout the midland counties. The weather to-day has been gloomy and depressing in London and a damp fog over the city.

An Englishman writes to the "Weather" seems hopelessly lost, and the most sanguine have now given up all expectation of a pleasant summer.

At Belfast the streets are deeply flooded, and the low-lying districts in Down and Antrim are under water, many farms, causing much destruction of property.

The reports from Sheffield state that one of the severest storms ever experienced swept the town on Saturday and Sunday. Torrents of rain fell, filling the rivers and damming the low-lying country in Yorkshire and Derbyshire. The crops have been ruined by the storm, and the agricultural outlook is everywhere very bad.

The Times' financial article says: "It was hoped that we were about to emerge from one of the worst periods of our history, but the stock market opened on Saturday with no better tone, there being some sunshine in the early hours. Toward midday, however, rain began to fall again very heavily, and there was a return of the dullness which especially characterizes the English financial market throughout the week. As the returns of wheat, hay, and potatoes seem small, there is no doubt now but that the excessive rain and the absence of sunshine has done much damage, and the only hope now is that the deficiency may be minimized even yet by a little seasonable weather. The prevailing opinion, both in France and Germany, is that the wheat crop will be both, however, the crops, having suffered from heavy rains, and the weather is not so favorable as it was some days ago. The only crop which is not so much damaged is the potato, which is still in good condition. With this outlook there can naturally be no improvement in the Manchester wool trade, which is as flat as ever, while in the retail districts things grow worse rather than better. It is not, therefore, surprising that money markets nearly everywhere throughout Europe. The wind continues to blow very hard at Scilly, and the weather is cold and winter-like. Although the depression arrived between the 16th and 18th, as predicted by the Herald Weather Bureau, no real energy was developed within it until the 20th.

HAYTI.

THE REVOLUTION.

PARIS, July 22.—The Haytian Minister arrived at Havre on Sunday for the French army. They were inspected by French officers detailed for the purpose, and were all accepted at prices ranging from 1,100 francs to 1,250 francs ($220 to $250), which are the top prices for French horses.

The horses were in splendid condition after their voyage, and were all watered having occurred on board the ship.

The success of the expedition is complete. Soon as transportation can be had as cheaply from New York to Havre as to Liverpool, large shipments of American horses for the French army will be assured. The difference in the price of transportation is now $30 against Havre, but efforts are making to have this discrimination lessened, if not abolished. This shipment was made from Richmond, Ind., through the patriotic exertion of Cassin Bridgman. It is the entering wedge of another shipment of export from the United States.

GREAT BRITAIN.

THE GREAT FLOODS.

LONDON, July 22.—Further reports from various parts of England show the terrible effects of the storm which is devastating the country. At Ipswich the roads are flooded to the greatest depth ever recollected. At Haverhill the water has inundated the streets, and the shops are submerged, the people being conveyed about in carts. At Wellingham a great flood prevails; in fact, such has not been known for a century.

THE LAST FLOOD.

The river-roads of the great and small rivers are submerged. Large quantities of hay have been swept away. All railway traffic between Ipswich and Yarmouth has been stopped by the floods, two bridges having been carried away by the water. On July 8 the police of the town of Ipswich were ordered to clear the streets, and the consequences are exceedingly disastrous to agriculture, because the hay is unmade and the wheat rotting in the fields. Cattle continue to blow at most of the west-coast stations, and the weather is quite severe for the season.

ARMY DISCIPLINE BILL.

LONDON, July 22.—The House of Lords has passed the Army Discipline Bill.

THE EASTERN PRIZES.

LONDON, July 22.—In the House of Commons to-day Sir Charles Dilke, calling attention to the execution of portions of the Berlin Treaty, said the Turks promised to carry out the reforms stipulated within three months, but a year had elapsed and nothing had been done. He moved that an address be presented to the Queen asking her Majesty to use her influence to procure the prompt execution of the treaty, and also to endeavor to procure for Greece a rectification of the frontier as agreed upon by the Powers.

Mr. Chamberlain declined the Government's intention to hold policy with regard to Greece.

NEW LE FERRY (Liberal) seconded Dilke's motion.

Hastbury (Liberal Conservative) moved an amendment that the Government had successfully carried out the treaty. The motion was carried.

Gladstone strongly supported the motion for an address.

Source, Under Secretary, said the Government had consistently urged the Porte to begin the work of reform. The Porte had neglected to do what might have been done. The

THE BATTLE.

Special Dispatch to the Tribune.

PA. FORT, M. T., July 20.—By Special, D. T. July 22.—Lieut. W. P. Clark, of the Second Cavalry, has again brought his name into notice. On the 17th inst. Lieut. Clark, in command of a force consisting of Company C, of his own regiment, led by Lieut. Hoppin, and Company I, Fifth Infantry, commanded by Lieut. Barden, with a force of about thirty friendly Indians, came upon 400 hostiles, who were out hunting, and who have for some time been committing depredations. The hostiles were found between Retreche's Creek and Beaver Creek, and a sharp engagement ensued.

A running fight was maintained for some ten or twelve miles. Lieut. Clark's command drove the Indians before them for this distance, and the Indians, with their accustomed celerity, executed a sort of flank movement, and a sharp engagement ensued.

Scouts had been sent back to Gen. Miles, and the entire main column was put en route at a rapid speed, and when they reached the scene of engagement the hostiles, alarmed at this prompt reinforcement, fled, going north to Milk River. It is said that Lieut. Clark, with his Fifth Infantry, with his detachment, handled the Hotchkiss guns superbly, and their volleys assisted the rattling pace at which the patriotic warriors made their retreat. The friendly Indians with Miles all fought splendidly. Crowe, Asiniboin, and all struggling to make a record.

THE CAPTIVITIES.

In this engagement, as in Miles' command, wounded, Private Hardman, Company C, Second Cavalry, in the foot; Private Gama, same company, in the right shoulder; killed, Medicine-Man and Shadon-Goat, of the Medicine Men, and Magpie, a Crow scout. Blue-Cloth, an Asiniboin, is seriously wounded.

THE LOSS AMONG THE HOSTILES.

It is not definitely known, but among their killed relatives friendly Indians report there were some ten or twelve, and among the wounded some twenty or thirty. It is reported that Sitting Bull, with 1,700 Indians, is in the immediate vicinity of Miles' command, and this report receives confirmation from every source that can in any way be considered reliable. At a very low estimate this would give Bull 2,000 warriors, and by experienced frontiersmen the figures are

THE FRENCH ABOLISHING DRUMMERS IN THEIR ARMY.

The white of the French infantry soldier is doomed, and with the low shot, he shortly will be replaced by a serviceable laced half-breed. The red trousers will probably have long been superseded by one of more sombre and less conspicuous but better wearing color; and now the expediency of retaining the drum is in question. The drum is a relic of the past, and the French army is in its last number points out that the drummer is a soldier under arms in time of peace and in time of war. He cannot defend himself, and he is embarrassed by his movements by an instrument which when it is wet or has been exposed to dew in a night's march is of no use at all. The French paper adds, very difficult to understand, and hardly an officer worth his salt in the army can be expected to play the drum, but not, however, in consequence of large supplies. Barley from oats and maize, however, despite large supplies.

rest of the party express themselves more satisfied with the party, and say that the trip so far has been very enjoyable. They expect to return to London about the last of August or the first of September, and will then return to Chicago.

The will of William Corvign, who died in this city July 15, was yesterday admitted to probate before Judge Knickerbocker. By the terms of the will, a lot of twenty-four feet front on Michigan street, between South Water and River streets, is left to the nephew of the deceased, Richard W. Clifford. A bequest of $1,000 is made to his grand-daughters, Jane and Anna Theresa O'Keefe, for their education, to be expended under the direction of the executor. The rest of the property, there being no personal estate, consists of forty feet on Wabash avenue, near Harrison street, and forty feet on the northwest corner of State and Eighteenth streets, and is devised to the Catholic Bishop of Chicago, to be expended according to his discretion for the support of the orphan children of poor parents. The said Bishop is also made the executor of the will, all security being waived.

The estate of the late John J. O'Connell, deceased, is valued at $40,000. The will is dated July 10, 1871, and witnessed by L. C. Foster and George W. O'Connell. Letters of administration were granted to the executor, Leonard W. Volk.

The first of the four symbolic statues that are to adorn the pedestal of the "Lincoln" monument, representing "Illinois," was placed in position yesterday by its sculptor, Leonard W. Volk.

It is a male figure in a sitting posture. In the left hand it holds several ears of corn; the right hand rests upon the State arms, and the feet are upon a base representing the State. The statue is made of bronze, and is valued at $10,000.

The three other figures, that are to adorn the pedestal of the "Lincoln" monument, representing "Illinois," were placed in position yesterday by its sculptor, Leonard W. Volk.

reunited this morning at 10 o'clock, but will not be pushed for a few days.
Clark Filkins yesterday began the payment of the overdue rent of the late John J. O'Connell. He wants them to come forward and get their money and not keep him in the lurch for several weeks. They will take notice accordingly.

A contractor who hopes in the future to convince the Joint Committee on Public Service Buildings that his special plan is better than any other, and therefore more suitable for use in the new Court-House, has decided to have a small part of the alley west of the Court-House filled with the product of the Court-House.

The Committee on Equalization of Taxes, which is one of the most important Committees of the County Board, will meet Thursday morning at 10 o'clock for the purpose of considering the assessment rolls. The great decline in the South Town lots of both real and personal property will be investigated, and a decided probability that some important changes will be made in the assessment. The work of the Committee will be continued from day to day until completed.

The Grand Jury yesterday heard and examined seventeen docket cases, mostly charges of the violation of the law against the late John J. O'Connell. They ignored six bills presented to them, and in the remaining cases will present five bills. None of the cases were of great importance.
